

Every candidate target precedes its query; event inputs obey the declared retrospective availability assumption.